ORDER No. RDF 39 TSW 60, DATED BANGALORE,
26th SEPTEMBER 1960, ASWAYUJA 4, SAKA 1882.

In view of the scarcity conditions that have appeared over an extensive area of the State during the current year, Government have come to the conclusion that it would be particularly useful to undertake a special drive for construction of as large a number of irrigation wells as possible. While these wells will constitute a permanent asset to the State for stepping up agricultural production by assuring supply of water even in areas which are vulnerable so far as rainfall is concerned, they will provide also employment to a large number of persons. A meeting was held on 13th September 1960 between the representatives of the State Government and of the Government of India in the Ministry of Agriculture to discuss this and related problems.

On an average about 5,000 to 6,000 wells are being taken up per year in the State with the assistance afforded by the Revenue Department, Community Development Organisation and medium-term credit given to the Co-operative Societies.

The rules in force with regard to grant of assistance both by way of loans and subsidy and the conditions attached thereto were reviewed, and it was decided that these rules require to be liberalised to encourage more persons to construct irrigation wells. To tide over the present
